To the Class of 1989:

Because the "Class of 89" is so special, I feel very fortunate for this to have been my first year as principal of Marple Newton Senior High School. You have made your senior year a memorable one for yourselves, as well as for me, and I urge you now to approach your future with the same positive spirit.

It is very important for each of you to continue to set meaningful goals throughout your life. One of the tragedies of life is that too many people deliberately set goals too low, to reduce the possibility of disappointments. Your goals should be realistic, but high enough to be a challenge. Many people claim to be successful because they have reached every goal set in their lives. They are really failures because their goals were deceptively low. Others have proclaimed failure because they never achieved their goals, simply because their goals were too high. They may not have reached their goals, but they did reach their maximum potential. Success is not necessarily determined by reaching your goals, but success is determined by reaching your maximum potential in light of the opportunities that come your way.

I encourage each of you to grasp onto the opportunities afforded you, set your goals and strive to reach your individual potential.
